

The full probabilistic model

- A tree topology (to be estimated, n^n)
- Branch lengths (to be estimated, $2n-3$)
- A substitution model (to be (partly) estimated, 1, 3, 4, ...208 ...)
- A distribution of site rates (to be estimated, 1, 2, ...)